Congo Premier Detained Three Hours By Army

Kasavubu Orders Lumumba Arrest, Then Frees Him

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Patrice Lumumba came roaring back through the streets of Leopoldville shouting "Victory," from a military jeep Monday night, only two hours after he was arrested and then freed.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congolese army interned Premier Patrice Lumumba for three hours Monday and then freed him.

The power struggle between the Congo's left-leaning premier and his moderate president, Joseph Kasavubu, remained unresolved.

Kasavubu, as chief of state, named a new 23-man government to replace Lumumba's red-backed regime and halt what Kasavubu has called a drift toward chaos and communism.

Kasavubu's premier-designate is Senate President Joseph Ileo.

Whatever the outcome, the Congo is certain to remain an issue in the cold war. The Soviet Union backed Lumumba with a fleet of planes, 100 trucks and scores of technicians, all sent in outside U.N. channels.

The first announcement of Lumumba's detention was made by his own chief of security, Charles Muzungu.

About 200 soldiers of the Congolese army, being swiftly coordinated with U.N. forces, made the arrest. They met no resistance when they surrounded Lumumba's luxurious villa overlooking the Congo River.

"I do not want any bloodshed," said the lanky, goateed Negro who became government chief when Belgium freed the Congo June 30. "I will come with you."

He was taken to Camp Leopold II, headquarters of the capital's 3,000-man garrison.

Lumumba made the trip in a baggage-laden government limousine, accompanied by his wife and two children. Members of Lumumba's staff and a limousine with his belongings followed soon afterward.

About three hours later Lumumba reappeared in downtown Leopoldville. He demanded that he be allowed to speak over Radio Leopoldville, which the U.N. Command controls.

Though the U.N. had put the station back in service Monday morning after silencing it for a week, Lumumba was told it could not be used to air his views. U.N. Ghana soldiers said they had orders to fire if he tried to get into the station again.

Lumumba had tried to seize the station Sunday. He was turned back at gunpoint then by a British back at gunpoint then by a British lieutenant of the Ghana forces.

Gen. Victor Lundula, the ex-mercenary who commands the Congo's 20,000-man army, had a talk with Swedish Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn, U.N. military commander in the Congo. A U.N. spokesman said they discussed reorganization of the Congolese forces and continued cooperation between the Congolese and U.N. armies.

Airline Fined $500 After Cowling Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capital Airlines has paid a $500 fine for improper maintenance of an airplane which lost part of a metal covering on a takeoff from Washington National Airport last Dec. 13.

The Federal Aviation Agency said that after the four-engine DC4 took off the crew discovered that part of the accessory cowling for one of the engines was missing. The plane returned to the airport, and the missing part was found on the runway where it had fallen when the plane took off.

U.N. Council Adjourns Its Congo Debate

Crisis Temporarily Shelved; Confused Situation Is Cited

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council decided Monday to put the Congo crisis on the shelf temporarily in the hope the situation in the chaotic African republic would be clarified.

Despite Soviet opposition, the council voted, 9-2, for a U.S. proposal to adjourn subject to the call of President Egidio Ortona of Italy.

The Soviet Union immediately requested a new meeting, but informed sources said there would probably be none before Wednesday.

A U.N. spokesman announced there would be no session Monday night and that a meeting date would not be set until sometime Tuesday.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said in a statement after the meeting: "There is not much point in talking until you have a sound basis of information on which to speak."

In the 15-minute council session Wadsworth called the delegates' attention to press dispatches reflecting "additional confusion" in the Congo. He proposed that, "in view of the lack of clarity in the situation," the council adjourn.

Valerian Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, declared the proposal was not consistent with the council's interest in the Congo situation. But Wadsworth's motion was approved with only the Soviet Union and Poland voting no.

Zorin then introduced a formal motion that the council meet again at 8:30 Monday night, but Ortona ruled that the council was adjourned and a request for a new meeting must be made either by request to him or Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The adjournment put off for the time being a sharp East-West clash over the struggle for power in the Congo between Soviet-supported Patrice Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu.

Just as the council ended its brief session, the U.N. announced that rival delegations from the Congo were expected in New York Monday night. One represents Kasavubu and the other Lumumba.

Zorin is expected to demand that the council hear the delegation representing Lumumba. Any such demand will be opposed by the United States and other Western powers.

A U.S. spokesman said the move to delay debate had nothing to do with arrival of the Congo delegations.

"Nikita's Ark" In Open Atlantic

LONDON (UPI) — "Nikita's Ark," the Soviet ship Baltika, sailed into the open Atlantic Monday carrying Nikita S. Khrushchev to New York for the United Nations General Assembly and possibly an American TV appearance.

A Tass Soviet news agency correspondent aboard the 7,500-ton luxury liner, said "numerous messages" have been received from the United States asking the Soviet Premier to appear on TV and discuss his role in the Assembly which opens Sept. 20.

Man Wed In '37 To Girl, 9, Opposes New Son-In-Law

RUTLEDGE, Tenn. (UPI) — A tight-lipped tobacco farmer who shocked the world in 1937 by taking a nine-year-old mountain girl as his bride is heading indignantly for court in an effort to break up the marriage of his 17-year-old daughter.

Charlie Johns swore out a warrant during the weekend against his new son-in-law, John Henry Antrican, 20. Antrican whisked away Johns' daughter, Evelyn, and married her Friday at Bean Station in rural Grainger County.

Johns charged that Antrican "abducted" Evelyn. A preliminary hearing for the youth had been set for Monday but was postponed until Oct. 4.

Johns created a national uproar 23 years ago when he married Eunice Winstead, a shy mountain youngster who was to bear him nine children in the years that followed. He was 22 at the time.

Johns has steadfastly refused to talk with reporters concerning his opposition to Evelyn's marriage. "None of your business," he shouted at newsmen from behind the screen door of his home in the hill country.

"He (Johns) wanted me to go with another boy — one who had more money," Evelyn said.

Asked about the "abduction" of his wife, Antrican said, "Charlie was working in his tobacco patch when I went and got her. He took out after me but he never got close." The couple made their getaway in a borrowed car.

Nixon Lashes Demos In Coast To Coast Sweep

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon swept his presidential campaign coast to coast Monday — and told cheering Texans that Democrats by their platform "forfeited their right to ask Democrats to vote for them."

The Republican vice president got a sendoff in Baltimore on his transcontinental tour from President Eisenhower and Hurricane Donna.

Nixon set himself a goal of taking the great issues of the day to all the people, regardless of party, so as to give them a clear choice of "what is best for America."

That was at the Baltimore, Md., airport, at the start of a long day.

Monday night in San Francisco, a continent's breadth away, Nixon took a crack at what he called Democratic "politics of despair."

He said the Democrats are using fast switching lines of attack in the field of keeping the peace and maintaining American strength and prestige. The attacks, he said, have varied from wrong to senseless, to irresponsible, to "harmful to our national interest."

Between coasts, the vice president flashed by jet plane into Indianapolis, Ind., and Dallas, Tex., for a pair of political rallies and speeches.

It was in Dallas, on his third political sortie into the South, that Nixon really cut loose at the Democratic opposition, at its national convention in Los Angeles, and its platform.

"I say to you by what they did in Los Angeles in their platform, they forfeited their right to ask Democrats to vote for them."

In the home state of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson—the Democratic vice presidential nominee—Nixon said "those people were wrong" who said the Republican national ticket could not carry Texas again.

"We are going to campaign as it has never been campaigned before," Nixon said. "We are determined to win Texas, as we have carried it before." He conceded registration figures meant the odds were against him in Texas, which went for President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

He told the crowd in the auditorium that the Democratic party, by its 1960 platform, had "forfeited the right to the vote of the thousands of Texas Democrats who do not agree with it."

The Democratic party today, he said, is not the party of those Democrats, "who believe in the great principles of their party as enunciated by Jefferson, Jackson, and Wilson."

Police Chief J. E. Curry estimated the auditorium crowd at the 9,500 and the street turnout at 100,000, which he called the biggest since a hero's welcome for Adm. Chester W. Nimitz after World War II.

As Nixon launched his jet-propelled cross-country campaign for the presidency in Indianapolis earlier in the day, he pitched his major appeal for votes on a theme of "what is best for America."

Donna Causes One Death, Destruction On Maryland Coast

By The Associated Press

Hurricane Donna did her dirty work in a hurry Monday as she roared through Maryland's coastal and bay areas, leaving behind one dead, thousands of dollars in destruction and the job of cleaning up muck and debris.

The only storm fatality occurred at the little Eastern Shore town of Delmar, astride the Maryland-Delaware line north of Salisbury.

Charles W. Hutchinson, about 50, a guard at a Seaford, Del., plant, was electrocuted outside his home on the Maryland side when he came in contact with a fallen 2,400 volt power line.

Mrs. Mary Beverly Howard, 31, of Annapondale, Va., was slashed by glass blown from her Ocean City motel window and suffered leg lacerations. She was taken to a Salisbury hospital in satisfactory condition.

During the peak of the storm, when swirling winds got up to more than 100 miles an hour, fire broke out in a frame business building in Salisbury. For a time, nearby homes were in danger, but firemen finally got the flames under control despite the gale.

The fire heavily damaged a pet shop, confectionery, barber shop and laundromat.

Ocean City took a beating, but there was no loss of life as ample warning was given and vacationers and permanent residents of the Atlantic Ocean resort took cover. Other cities and towns in the storm belt also took necessary precautions.

The roof of one boardwalk motel was ripped off, with damage unofficially set at $100,000. The roofing of another was stripped and water poured into third floor rooms.

One summer cottage was twisted off its foundation.

About 2,000 Ocean City vacationers and residents of the area were given refuge in a high school and public buildings in Berlin.

Power failures were frequent throughout the Eastern Shore. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. said about 9,000 telephones were out of service throughout the state. The total included 5,000 on the Shore, 2,000 in Southern Maryland, 1,000 in the Baltimore metropolitan area and 1,000 in scattered sections.

Crisfield, the seafood center on Chesapeake Bay, was cut off when falling trees snapped the telephone trunk line.

In Salisbury, police warned all persons to stay off streets because of the fallen utility wires. Several streets were flooded by high tides.

AF Plane Wreckage Yields Nine Bodies

DENVER (UPI) — A rescue team found the bodies of nine Air Force men Monday in the wreckage of their cargo plane, which failed to clear the Continental Divide by only a few hundred feet.

The C-123, en route Sunday from Lowry Air Force Base at Denver to Hill AFB, Utah, slammed into the side of 12,927-foot Vasquez Peak, just west of Berthoud Pass, one of the major roads linking east and west through Colorado's mountains.

Demo Nominee Meets Religion Issue Headon

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy told Protestant ministers Monday night he believes in absolute separation of church and state, with no Roman Catholic prelate telling a Catholic president how to act.

At the same time, Kennedy said, he believes in America where no Protestant minister tells his congregation for whom the congregation should vote.

Kennedy is a Roman Catholic, and in predominantly Protestant Texas, as well as in many other parts of the nation, this has become an important, if not the most important factor, in the presidential election.

Kennedy told the Greater Houston Ministerial Association that he's sorry this is so, that he thinks far more important issues confront this country.

"But because I am a Catholic," Kennedy said in his prepared speech, "and no Catholic has ever been elected president, the real issue in this campaign has been obscured, in some quarters less responsible than this."

"So it is apparently necessary for me to state once again—not what kind of church I believe in, for that would be important only to me—but what kind of America I believe in."

This, Kennedy said, is it: "I believe in an America where the separation of church and state is absolute — where no Catholic prelate would tell a president (should he be Catholic) how to act, and no Protestant minister would tell his parishioners for whom to vote—where no church or church school is granted any public funds or political preference—and where no man is denied public office merely because his religion differs from the president who might appoint him or who might elect him."

Kennedy declared that if the time ever came when he was required to violate his conscience, he would resign the presidency.

Kennedy was winding up a full, hard, hot day of campaigning in Texas, trying, along with his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, to bring the Lone Star state back into the Democratic column.

Alert Keeps Damage, Loss Of Life Down

Hurricane Rages Inland After Raking Mid-Atlantic Coast

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Donna, treacherous, fast-moving spawn of the hemisphere's southern seas, raged inland into New England Monday night, after battering the Mid-Atlantic Coast with savage fury.

The storm's force was reported diminishing. But it still packed winds up to 90 m.p.h. as it slashed northward from Long Island turned inland along a 120-mile front from Connecticut to New Hampshire.

Killed by the storm were 135 persons, 20 of them in the United States.

Weather experts, in marking its prior passage from Virginia to New York, called Donna one of the most dangerous hurricanes ever to strike that area. But a well-in-advance alert to its shrieking winds and surging 10-foot tides kept damage and loss of life to a surprisingly low level.

States of emergency had been declared for Rhode Island and Massachusetts in advance of the storm. But dangerous flooding failed to materialize as peak tides subsided before the full brunt of the hurricane was felt.

In New York City, more than 2,000 pupils were successfully evacuated from 11 public schools surrounded by flooded streets. Nearly 300 additional students were marooned without food or electricity in two other schools, one of them an island in four feet of water. But the youngsters were rescued well before nightfall.

Follows Path Of 1938 Storm

The hurricane blustered along at a brisk forward rate, moving at about 40 m.p.h. up the coast. Weather observers said its path was roughly that of the great 1938 hurricane—which claimed nearly 600 lives in New England and inflicted up to half a billion dollars in damage. Present-day weather forecasting, however, permitted advance precautions to lessen the damaging impact of the storm.

As the hurricane eased its grip on New York City in late afternoon, Weather Bureau Chief Ernest J. Christie announced: "This will go down in history as one of the biggest hurricanes that ever hit New York and the metropolitan area. This is the highest I have ever seen the tide here."

Up to eight inches of rain poured down. It was driven all most laterally by hurricane winds in excess of 80 m.p.h.—outliers of the 130 m.p.h. force of the big storm. Inland areas all along the coast were alerted for flash floods.

Thousands of evacuees streamed inland from the battered South Shore of Long Island and from the Connecticut coast. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff ordered Connecticut shore residents from their homes.

Precautions Taken

Police, coast guard, fire, hospital and Civil Defense equipment was marshaled in emergency strength from Virginia to Maine as the hurricane cut a wide path of coastal destruction.

Winds were clocked at above 130 m.p.h. Gales and heavy seas ranged for 300 miles out.

Advance warnings held down loss of life on the coast. There were isolated drownings, heart seizures, and auto accidents attributed to the storm.

19 Nations Sign Act Of Bogota

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The Inter-American Economic Conference Monday formally approved the U.S.-sponsored Act of Bogota pledging broad economic and social development programs for Latin America. Only Cuba among 20 participating nations opposed the act, denouncing it as a political instrument of the United States.

The conference rejected a Cuban proposal that the United States channel $30 billion in economic aid to Latin America in the next 10 years. Twelve nations voted against it, and seven abstained.

The delegates, showing mounting impatience with Cuba's hard anti-U.S. line, also refused to support Cuban charges that the United States is waging economic aggression against Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

The Act of Bogota centers on a $500 million U.S. fund for social development projects such as land reform, low-cost housing, and improvements in schooling and public health services for Latin America's vast peasant population.

Donna's Rains Curtail Crowd, Force Nixon Campaign Kickoff Rally Indoors

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP) — The kickoff of Vice President Richard Nixon's presidential campaign, billed as "enormous and powerful," was also a bit soggy.

Rains whipped up by Hurricane Donna forced the big Friendship Airport rally indoors Monday, much to the early despair of Maryland Republican chiefs who arranged the affair.

They had publicly hoped for about 3,000 spectators.

The estimated 1,500 to 2,000 who finally turned up in a driving rain, however, obviously pleased D. Eldred Rinehart, state party chairman.

Capt. Carl Kumanec of the airport police, who made the estimate, said the dripping well-wishers overflowed the building wing where the rally was held, backed up into a corridor linking the wing to the main building and spilled into the main structure itself.

Scores of school-age children were spotted in the crowd, which shouldered the usual forest of posters — "Nixon-Lodge in the White House," "We Like Ike," etc. — in red, white and blue.

But one boy emphasized that some of his loyalty was non-political.

"I like Ike, Nixon and Lodge," his sign read, with another line proclaiming, "I like the Orioles, too."

Nixon may be a swift campaigner, but Maryland's national committeewoman, Mrs. Robert O. Bonnell, takes a back seat to no one when it comes to sheer speed.

President Eisenhower was barely inside the airport building before she sprang into action and deftly stuck a black-eyed Susan, the Maryland flower, into his lapel.

Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, his running mate, got the same treatment.

A sporadic eavesdropper might have gotten the impression he had tuned in on an animal show.

Besides the poster mentioning the Orioles, which Eisenhower described to the crowd, there was also talk of Colts and Kittens.

The President spoke about the Colts, National Football League variety, and Nixon discussed kittens.

"You have a record for launching champions," Eisenhower told the predominantly Baltimore crowd, referring to the two-time champion Colts. "Now I'm sure you can adopt Dick and Cabot and send them out as champions."

Nixon, whose 1952 speech mentioned his dog "Checkers" made such a big hit, talked about the kittens in connection with Hurricane Donna. He said his daughter Patricia has a cat also named Donna and two weeks ago the cat gave birth to six kittens — four white ones and two striped ones.

"And if you want a kitten," he laughed, "you can get one."

The rain and resultant confusion of moving the rally indoors ate into the time allotted the homefolks to speeches. Sens. John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall did little more than wave greetings.

There were no speeches by the seven congressional candidates — Edward T. Miller of the First District; J. Fife Symington Jr., Second; Robert J. Gerstung, Third; Melvin R. Kenney, Fourth; Carlisle J. Lancaster, Fifth; Del. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., Sixth; and David Blum, Seventh.

A Fifth District contingent, incidentally, caused a bit of misunderstanding with its "Nixon-Lodge-Lancaster" posters.

Nixon apparently thought the last name on the poster referred to a city and said he was pleased to see a Pennsylvania delegation at the rally.

There's bound to be at least a minor foul-up in these affairs, so you have to be philosophical about it. That's what one reporter was when he found that his telephone, installed so he could call his office in a hurry, had been placed next to the brass band in the rally hall.

Pa. Troopers Drive Trucks In Crackdown

HARRISBURG (AP) —

Attention motorists: That man in the leather jacket driving a pick-up truck could be a Pennsylvania State policeman looking for speeding violators.

Troopers in plain clothes and operating unmarked cars, station wagons — yes, even trucks — are taking to roads across the state in a crash program ordered by Gov. Lawrence to curb carnage on the highways.

Col. Frank G. McCartney, State Police commissioner, made public details of the crackdown over the weekend after conferences with Lawrence and troop commanders.

"It's orders from Gov. Lawrence . . . to cut the slaughter on the highways to the minimum," said McCartney.

While designed to stop all violators, a State Police spokesman said the crackdown was aimed mainly at speeding truckers "who have been playing cat-and-mouse with ununiformed troopers." He added:

"The fact is that the truck drivers . . . are just too smart for the officers. They spot a State Police patrolman a mile away, so they slow down and play 'cat and mouse' and the officer doesn't have a chance to get the evidence required to secure a conviction."

McCartney said the special patrols will operate on U.S. 22 between Harrisburg and Allentown, the Pennsylvania Turnpike and other highspeed roads.

Under the plan, troopers in unmarked cars will watch for speeders. When they spot a violation, they will radio ahead to uniformed officers in marked cars who will make the arrest.

Nixon, Lodge Plan Maryland Visits

BALTIMORE (AP)—Vice President Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, his running mate, will both make additional campaign appearances in Maryland, State Party Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart said Monday.

The party chairman said the dates of the later appearances had not been set, but the candidates' quest of Maryland's nine electoral will make separate visits here in votes.

To Repair Highways

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force said Monday it was flying two Army engineer companies to the Florida Keys to repair highway hurricane damage which has isolated road access to 45,000 persons.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — City Auditor Howard C. Beck Jr. suggested Monday that parking and traffic law violators be allowed to pay their fines at banks throughout Baltimore.

Beck pointed out there are more than 100 banks and their branches, which now serve as collection agencies for city tax bills.

Beck said such a system would "stimulate" collection of traffic fines. At present, violators must either pay up at police headquarters or mail their money to the Traffic Court.

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Anthony Lattanzio, 31, of Silver Spring died Monday in the Johns Hopkins Hospital of injuries suffered in a two-car auto collision on U.S. 40 northeast of Baltimore. Police said Lattanzio's auto went out of control, crossed the middle grass strip and hit another auto.

The death boosted Maryland's 1960 traffic toll to 366, or 10 more than a year ago.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Facts For Fur-Buyers

If this is the fall for your first fur, you'll want to know just how to go about it, just what to look for. Even the least of furs is expensive, and most women want to be able to afford the luxury by investing in a fur that will "pay for itself" over many years' wear.

The only way to assure this is to make sure your fur coat is composed from excellent skins at the hands of an expert and dependable furrier. The furrier, probably, comes first... because if he is reliable as well as talented, you'll get only the best skins, crafted with skill.

Don't settle on sable or mink, just because they are your heart's desire—unless you can afford the top grade. Viewing with one practical eye and one eye for beauty, you'll be far prouder of the best in beaver or muskrat. If it MUST be mink or else, and the cost of a full coat is out of the question, then consider a jacket, cape or stole. But if you can afford the works in mink, go ahead. One classic mink can be many different coats, for many years.

Shop for your fur as long and as lovingly as you do for a car. Don't be satisfied with samplings; see whole collections. Try many styles before you decide. Model them for your husband and family. And listen closely to the furrier. He or she probably comes from a "fur" family, bred with an innate sense for selecting the right furs for the right woman. The furrier, for instance, may suggest either a brief jacket or a full-length coat to a very short woman, because he will be the first to notice the awkward box outlined on her by a three-quarter coat. For the same short woman, he may shake his head at the thought of long-haired furs, because he knows fox is for the long and leggy. Fox is a very important fur this season... but so is squirrel. So the long and the short of you can both be satisfied.

If you take a fancy to the "trick" furs, wild and memorable, hold back unless you already have one or more conservative fur coats in your closet. Avoid extremes in fur fashions if you want to stay in style a long time.

Once you've made up your mind and have ordered your coat, refuse to hurry your furrier. Give him time for the wonderful workmanship that is costing as much, if not more, than the skins. Instead, give this interval to your own personal preparation as the possessor of a fine fur coat. Study the ways to care for it, make ready a roomy niche for storing it. And dream of how warm and wonderfully-rich you'll feel wearing it.

Bids Sought For Work On Five City Streets

Street Commissioner John J. Long was authorized by the Mayor and Council yesterday to advertise for bids for resurfacing five more streets.

Included are Central Y.M.C.A. intersection; City Hall Square, Cumberland Street from Tilghman to Washington Street; East Third Street from Pennsylvania to Virginia Avenue; and Williams Street from Douglas to Avondale Avenue.

One objection was registered to Cumberland Street, a spokesman saying that brick surface is better than that which can be provided by blacktop and that the surface is better for winter driving.

A Williams Street spokesman registered an objection but mostly because of speeders. This situation will become worse when the new surface is installed, it was said.

Council also approved introductory ordinances for grading, draining, curbing and paving of Blackstone Avenue from Oldtown Road to the Industrial Boulevard; West Elder Street from Virginia to Lexington Avenue; and Lexington Avenue from King Street to Mary Street. All three will be introduced Monday, September 26.

Another ordinance calling for the sewerage of Brown Avenue from Euclid Avenue to Tonkaway Avenue will be introduced September 26.

In another matter affecting streets, the Hout Construction Company in a report on construction of a section of Frederick Street beginning at the 500 block said gas, water and sewer line difficulties have slowed the work and the project has not been "dragged out." It said in the interest of safety, much time has been consumed.

It was proposed to start the street sub-grade in preparation for placing the macadam base course, then follow with the base course. One section of 200 feet has not been torn up to convenience East Side Fire Station.

The bids of Gratton Ford for a half ton pickup truck ($1,533.95) and two four-door cars ($2,925) for the Water Department were accepted.

The answer is "both", if you wish. If you do not have enough money to invest in both, we suggest:

Place your savings in mortgages on homes in this Community through this Association.

FIRST. Establish a degree of financial independence through savings in this Association which are entirely invested in first mortgages on homes and which are repayable with a relative high rate of interest in fixed dollars, and not subject to market fluctuations.

PPG Official Asks Check On Import Duties

An official of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has submitted a memorandum to the U.S. Tariff Commission and Committee of Reciprocity Information opposing any further reductions in existing duties on imported glass.

Robinson F. Barker, vice president and general manager of the company's glass division, testified last month before the two government agencies concerning the effect of foreign-produced sheet glass on the domestic market.

The volume of foreign-produced sheet (or window) glass imported in the first three months of 1960 amounted to slightly less than 28 per cent of the domestic production, while during the second quarter, imports rose to 38 per cent of the domestic production.

In the supplemental memorandum by Mr. Barker, he asked that the Tariff Commission institute an "escape clause" investigation at the earliest practicable date to provide relief for the domestic glass industry.

In addition, the Committee for Reciprocity Information was asked to take immediate action to remove sheet glass from the list of products to be considered by the United States for any further reductions in U.S. duties at the GATT negotiations now being conducted in Geneva, Switzerland.

Mr. Barker noted the startling increase in the import of foreign glass occurred during the very period in which domestic producers reduced their prices substantially in an effort to combat the foreign invasion of the U.S. sheet glass market.

School Age Regulation Challenged

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Supreme Court Monday docketed for hearing Oct. 4 a case challenging the legality of a new regulation stipulating that a child must be 6 years old by Nov. 1 or wait until the next term to enter West Virginia public school.

The State Board of Education was ordered to show cause why it should not be directed to rescind the ruling. The high court voted 3-2, with Judges Chauncey Browning and Thornton G. Berry dissenting, to grant a writ of mandamus to Lewis attorney John L. Detch.

The board passed the age regulation in 1958. It set Dec. 1 as the date last year that a child had to be 6 in order to start school, and advanced that to Nov. 1 this year. Formerly, a child was admitted to the first grade if he turned 6 anytime in the first half of the school term.

Detch brought the challenge suit in behalf of his daughter who will not be 6 until Nov. 3, and therefore will have to wait until next fall to enter school, if the board regulation stands.

Detch contended that the Legislature intended in establishing public school ages of 6 to 21 that a child should be allowed to enter the first grade at the start of the school term in which he is 6, or at least on the date he is 6.

New $50,000 Research Unit Sought For WVU

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The next Legislature probably will be asked to set up a research and planning center at West Virginia University.

The legislature's two main interim committees heard a proposal Monday by a subcommittee on education calling for a $50,000 appropriation for the center.

The full report of the subcommittee will be presented at the committee's next meeting.

Among purposes of the so-called "institute," earlier advocated by WVU President Elvis J. Stahr, would be to make long-range development proposals for the state as a whole and coordinate present and future University services.

In outlining the objectives of the institute recently, Stahr said it would "bring the total University into every party of the state as we now bring our agricultural services into each county through the long-established county agent system."

The institute would not substitute for state agency action and "we will not involve the University in government or in party politics," Stahr said.

The interim committees, opening a two-day meeting, also heard a preliminary report from the Southern Regional Education Board on its check of West Virginia's mental health setup.

For one thing, it recommended repeal of a requirement that prevents hiring of a director of the Mental Health Department unless he has been a resident of West Virginia for a year.

Overall, the SREB said, it thinks the state's mental health laws are excellent and provide the basis for a good program.

On Tuesday, the committee will hear reports by subcommittees concerning possible changes in state adoption laws and the state government's fiscal organization.

Convict Loses Freedom Bid

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — The latest bid for freedom by Hollie Griffith, perhaps West Virginia's best known convict, was dismissed Monday by Randolph County Circuit Judge Stanley Bosworth.

Griffith alleged in a writ of habeas corpus that he was improperly represented by an attorney at the time of his original hearing in 1915 when he was charged with the murder of a Gassaway police chief.

Prosecutor Robert E. Maxwell said the original records and law books from each of the three counties in which Griffith was convicted of murder were introduced as evidence.

Maxwell said they showed that Griffith had been indicted, stood trial and convicted, all in accordance with the law. Records were introduced from Mason, Braxton and Marshall Counties.

Griffith's defense attorneys were Jack Nuzum and Henry K. Higginbotham.

No Red Carpets
For Khrushchev

It's a waste of time speculating about Khrushchev's motives for attending the UN General Assembly which opens in New York September 22. The only thing the free world can be sure of is that he makes the trip in the interest of the international Communist conspiracy.

He was an enemy when he was permitted to come to the United States last year, but then he came garbed in the mantle of peace. Then he was the jolly peasant who wanted to be friends with everyone except those who kept him from Disneyland or asked embarrassing questions.

Right through Camp David, except for some interludes of contemptuous boasting, he exuded boorish good will and crude reasonableness. All that's gone now.

Khrushchev has said his theme will be disarmament, the song he sang last time. By disarmament he means disarmament by the West. No doubt he will try again to hoodwink the smaller powers, particularly the new African members. To enhance Soviet prestige, he may announce some spectacular new achievement in space.

President Eisenhower will speak during the session, but after what happened in Paris, he is not going to give Khrushchev another opportunity to exhibit his talents as a boor.

Unprecedented travel restrictions have been placed on the Soviet Premier during his stay in New York. The U. S. government evidently has taken the position that, while it is not going to prevent Khrushchev from coming to the U.N., it certainly doesn't have to make him welcome. And surely the American people will not do so.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
The Congo

Self-government for a nation, as for an individual, involves a long tradition and habit of self-restraint. Those who possess power may use it for any purpose, good or evil, beneficial or harmful. The possessor of power must be restrained by conscience, by moral law, by the laws of his nation, by the will of the people. If he is governed by whim or by the brutality of his nature or by his private interpretation of reason, either tyranny or anarchy will exist.

The Congo is an example of what can happen to a people with no tradition of self-government. There never was a nation called the Congo until the Europeans created it for their own purposes. The Congo is a river which passes through an area that contained many tribes in varying degrees of savagery. The Belgians and the French created the political entity called the Congo. The French part was governed according to French ideas and is now orderly; the Belgian part was largely held in subjection and its development was very slow.

The assumption that all people are equal, even if it were true, does not imply that all people possess the same abilities, the same capacity for self-government. And whereas it may be said that it is a fundamental principle that every people has a right to a government of its choice, it is not true that any people has a right to disturb the entire world, to lay a basis for war, to stir up strife. Against the bandit nation, the world must rise in self-defense as society always takes measures against brigands.

Whoever Lumumba is, he is a nuisance. The Congo cannot be isolated because Lumumba, like Castro, chooses to use his country as a pawn in a power play. His assumption undoubtedly is that by taking advantage of such opportunities as might arise from a contest between great nations over the Congo, he can, in some way, benefit.

Unfortunately, Lumumba cannot, as Mao Tze-tung could, swiftly establish an organ of power within his own country where his authority is contested. Nor could he establish such personal respect as Sukarno did in Indonesia. Nor does he have the history among his own people that Nehru has in India. Lumumba's problems therefore, are complex and he has not been able to form a union of tribes and provinces swiftly. He may not last unless supported by a foreign power such as Soviet Russia.

Time is extremely important in the early stages of forming a nation. The 13 colonies which became the United States were not the only territories on the American continent. Eastern Canada, particularly Quebec, was the same kind of a British colony that New York was, except that Quebec's European background was originally French and New York's was Dutch.

In a word, the more perfect union did not apply even to all the British colonies on the North American continent; it was limited to 13 like-minded areas which joined into a Federation and which made rapid strides toward some form of self-government, culminating in the Constitution. Even so, the Federation could not become a nation until after the War Between the States when the question of secession was settled; that is, that an area once entering the Union may never leave it. It is that principle which formed us a nation.

The Congo requires such statesmen as Jefferson and Madison to move forward to union swiftly. It requires a man of wisdom like Franklin and of leadership such as Washington. Lumumba does not seem to be the type, as Castro is not the type. Sun Yat-sen, the father of the Republic of China, strongly influenced by American ideas which he absorbed in Honolulu, was the self-sacrificing leader whom even his enemies respected. This could not be said of Lenin or Stalin and certainly not of Lumumba or Castro. Men must be respected unless they govern through fear.

Therefore the Congo is in its current confusion. No personality, no force, no concept exists to bring together not irreconcilable but differing peoples. Such a disorderly area in the heart of Africa or any continent can disturb the world at this sensitive moment when Soviet Russia is functioning imperialistically against all the world, even against its Communist partners.

Reasons For Meeting In Costa Rica Cited

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON. Among the reasons for choosing Costa Rica for the recent meeting of the Organization of American States, there was one reason which was as ugly as it was grimly revealing.

The American policy-makers concluded that Costa Rica was the only Caribbean country the Secretary of State of the United States could visit, except under the heaviest armed guard, without serious risk of being mobbed, spat upon, stoned or otherwise endangered or humiliated.

All the other possible countries were either politically unsuitable, like the Dominican Republic. Or their governments were unable or unwilling to control the Communists and non-Communist sympathizers with Fidel Castro, who were organizing to protest the attempt to discipline Cuba at the OAS meeting.

These facts will no doubt be denied in this election year, just as some of the more unpleasant facts concerning the Japanese disavowal of President Eisenhower were denied. But they are facts, nonetheless. They give a fair measure of the progressive decline of American and Western prestige, the spreading rot in foreign areas of key importance to this country and the West, and the increasing contempt for the United States that is being displayed by the Kremlin, in the form of bolder and bolder probing and trouble-making.

Wise and realistic men, even within the Eisenhower Administration, now agree that the three parallel processes above-listed are reaching an acutely critical stage. The crisis is not advertised as such, because it is widespread and seemingly disjointed. The news from Cuba is not connected with the news from Laos. The appalling news from the Congo is not connected with the intensely disturbing news from Berlin.

In reality, however, there are close connections between the expulsion of the pro-American government in Laos, the establishment of a pro-Communist government in Cuba, the catastrophe that seems to impend in Leopoldville, and the arrogant East German threat to free Berlin. All are part of the same pattern. All are ultimately traceable to the American and Western decline, the spreading rot, and the more and more contemptuous Kremlin probing. And the same causes can also be counted on, alas, to produce other, equally damaging situations later on.

In Brazil, for instance, it is entirely possible that the election there will soon install another Castro-like government, in another Latin American country more remote but vastly more important than Cuba. But there is no use enumerating all the danger spots. They now exist in every strategically significant region of the globe.

The fault does not lie with Allen W. Dulles and his Central Intelligence Agency. No secret service can operate as an effective substitute for a forceful national policy, which is what the C.I.A. has been expected to do. The fault does not lie, either, with Secretary of State Christian R. Herter. The chickens of the earlier years are simply coming home to roost on the unlucky Herter's shoulders. Although the chickens all look like vultures, they are not of Herter's breeding.

They were bred, to begin with, by the complacent and inadequate defense policies of the Eisenhower administration, persistent-

VOTES IN DIXIE—Republicans are making optimistic sounds about winning a goodly chunk of Southern electoral votes this year.

Publicly, they base their claims on adverse Southern reaction to the ultra-liberal Democratic platform and the segregation issue. Privately, a part of their calculations deal with the issue of Catholicism, which many political experts believe lost the South for Al Smith in 1928.

Most impartial observers think that if GOP Presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon does as well in the South as Eisenhower did in 1956, he'll be doing fine. Republicans make many glowing claims for Nixon, but none has been so rash as to maintain that he is a greater vote-getter than his present boss.

To illustrate the complexity of politics in the South, two events of recent days could contribute to a heavier Southern vote than would otherwise be expected.

A hot public school desegregation fight in Louisiana has been postponed until November 14 by the courts. The election is November 8. Observers are convinced that a court ruling in favor of desegregation in Louisiana on the eve of the elections would have inflamed Southern thinking against the party in power—the Republicans.

The other incident concerns a political debate in Atlanta, Ga., that will not be held. The Republican debater—on the issue of civil rights—was to have been Senator Jacob K. Javits, the hottest integrationist of them all. Had Javits appeared, he would have shown the other face of the Republican Party, and most observers agree he would have driven wavering Southern voters right back into the Democratic camp.

Short Leg Tilts Spine, Causes Backache

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

One of our readers had suffered from backache for years. Finally, it was traced to strain produced by walking about with one leg shorter than the other. The shoe on the short side was built up and pain disappeared within two days.

A similar situation occurred in a man who had fractured the right hip. When it healed, the leg on that side was 3/4 inch shorter than the other. He walked with a noticeable limp. Several months later, backache developed. Dramatic recovery came when the two sides were evened up by wearing a special shoe.

Many persons have one short leg but symptoms never develop. Measurements show the difference is less than 1/2 inch and the pelvis is not tilted sufficiently to strain the back.

But when one leg is 1/2 inch or more shorter than its mate, it is easy to understand why the spine is affected. It curves and the pelvis tilts to compensate for the uneven supports. Despite this effort at adjustment, the shoulder on the involved side is held lower, the hip is less prominent, and there is no hollow or dimpling of the flank. The gluteal fold on the side of the shorter leg is lower than that on the other buttock.

Most persons with this condition were born that way but pain usually is delayed until mature life. In other instances, a fractured bone in the leg may heal with shortening, especially when the break involves the hip. This explains why limping occurs long after pain subsides.

A British aviator who had lost his leg in an accident developed backache several months after getting an artificial limb. Pain became so severe, he was forced to discard the appliance and resort to crutches. Within a day or two distress subsided and it was obvious that the artificial limb was at fault. It was too short and a new one permitted him to walk in comfort.

Nixon's Campaign Office In Touch
With Evangelist On Religious Issue

(Editor's note—While Drew Pearson is taking a brief vacation his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon is so anxious to disassociate himself from the anti-Catholic hatchet work in the Presidential campaign that he has warned his workers not to discuss the religious issue even with friends and relatives.

Yet from sources close to Nixon, this column has learned that indirectly he is encouraging evangelist Billy Graham to speak out on the religious issue. Approaches reportedly have been made through wealthy Texans who have contributed heavily to Graham's Christian crusades.

Nixon personally sat in the same box with Graham's father-in-law, Dr. L. Nelson Bell, the last time the evangelist spoke in Washington several weeks ago. Bell returned to Washington only last week to participate in a closed-door Protestant conference on the Catholic question.

He assured this column, however, that the Vice President never mentioned the religious issue during their visit together.

By a curious coincidence, reporters discovered Billy Graham's former traveling partner, the Rev. Jess Moody, now of the Owensboro, Ky., First Baptist Church, in GOP National Chairman Thruston Morton's office the other day.

What the reporters didn't know, however, was that Moody came to Washington in response to a call from Vice President Nixon's of-

By Jack Anderson

Office. The first call came from William Stover, a Nixon aide, during the Republican convention. Two subsequent calls finally brought Moody to Washington where he visited both Stover and Morton. The distinguished preacher insisted in this column that he did not come to discuss the religious issue but to offer other suggestions.

Reported Private Talk

He reported to Stover on a private talk with Kentucky's Democratic Governor Bert Combs who, Moody said, confided to him that the Democrats are in trouble in Kentucky over the religious and race issues. Otherwise, Moody claimed he didn't mention religion.

"If Billy Graham's name came up," he added, "it was dropped in 10 seconds, and I don't remember it."

Moody also insisted that Nixon's office didn't pay for his trip. He stayed in the Texas Gas Transmission Company's private suite at the fashionable Shoreham Hotel.

Like Dr. Bell, the Rev. Moody has preached and written discreetly about the Catholic issue in the Presidential campaign. Neither is regarded as an anti-Catholic bigot. Moody even serves on a committee for better Baptist-Catholic understanding.

Meanwhile, Texas millionaire Carr Collins is still pressuring prominent Texas Baptists to jump on the Nixon bandwagon. Collins sparked the drive in Texas against Catholic candidate Al Smith in 1928 and is now organizing the campaign against Catholic candidate Jack Kennedy.

Collins is a heavy contributor to Howard Payne (Baptist) College whose president, Guy Newman, is now a leading light in the "Texans for Nixon" movement. Yet in the past, Newman has been an ardent supporter of Sen. Lyndon Johnson who happens to be running on the Democratic ticket against Nixon.

Collins also is a heavy contributor to Baylor University whose president, W. R. White, and executive vice president, Abner McCall, so far have resisted Collins' persuasion that they endorse Nixon.

Whether the religious issue will hurt Kennedy or backfire against

Nixon, it has come to haunt the 1960 campaign and won't go away. Beep, Beep, Beep

When the two turncoat code clerks announced in Moscow that they had talked to a Congressman before their defection, several Congressmen nervously peeked into their appointment books to see whether Bernon Mitchell and William Martin had ever dropped in.

Oregon's blunt-spoken Congressman Charlie Porter even telephoned the National Security Agency to ask whether he was supposed to be the man.

Dr. Louis Tordello, the deputy director, assured Porter it was another Congressman. As they talked, a steady beep, beep, beep could be heard in the background.

"If I were the malicious type," interrupted Porter, "I would say you apparently are taking more care with your telephone than with some of your employees. Are you recording this conversation?"

"Oh, no, Mr. Congressman," responded Dr. Tordello. "I was asked the same question the other day by Secretary Douglas (Under Secretary of Defense). We have some security phones. Those noises you hear let our people know they are talking on nonsecurity phones."

Note — The Congressman visited by Mitchell and Martin turned out to be Ohio's Wayne Hays who recalled that two men had stopped by about 18 months ago to complain about American espionage flights.

Judd Wouldn't Listen
Beautiful, demure Mrs. Wong Teh-chuan, daughter of opposition leader Lei Chen who has been jailed in Formosa by Chiang Kai-shek, popped in on the State Department the other day to plead for her father.

An American-educated research chemist who now lives in Elizabeth, N. J., she complained that her father had been accused of sedition over an article he wrote three years ago.

After making the rounds at the State Department, she sought an appointment with Chiang Kai-shek's champion in Congress, Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota.

When Judd found out who she was, however, he sent back word that she could drop by to say "hello" but he had no time to listen to her story.

The Car Market

By Leslie Gould

For the auto industry this new model year promises to be interesting as well as highly competitive.

If the consuming public continues in its present buying mood it should be a good year — between 6 and 6 1/2 million cars — probably the higher figure, which would equal the past year.

As L. L. "Tex" Colbert said in presenting Chrysler's new line, for the car buyer this year will be the greatest. This can be so because of the stepped up competition in all fields and the bargains being currently offered in used cars and a cleanup sales of 1960 models.

This is the time to buy. For those who want the latest to keep up with the Joneses — from a compact to a large luxury car — there is the widest selection. Fins, modified fins or no fins.

For those who just want transportation and are content with something less than the latest, there are the left over 1960s and the used cars.

Inventories of 1960 cars are high — around a million. Normally at this time of the year the inventory is 35 to 40 per cent less than this. Used car prices have come down largely because many second and third car buyers have turned to economy compacts.

An idea of the revolution that has happened in the auto industry if found in the success of the compacts. Two years ago there were only two American compacts, and none of these by the Big Three. Last year there were six — four being from the Big Three. This year there will be 10. The compacts accounted for only slightly more than 5 per cent of American production two years ago, 13 1/2 per cent last year, 26 per cent so far this year, and next year more than likely, 35 per cent.

For the first time since the public began showing first an interest and now a preference for compacts, foreign car sales here have declined. They will be less than 500,000 and may dip closer to 400,000 this year against 668,070 in 1959. This is good news for American labor.

In 1958 American compact car production was 229,730, up from 88,326 in '57. Foreign car imports were 430,808, up from 259,434 in '57. Last year — '59 — compact production reached 755,432 and foreign imports rose to 668,070.

So far this year American companies have made 1,177,781 compacts and foreign imports are 311,117.

This market for American compacts will continue to grow. To quote some figures of M. C. Patterson, general manager of Chrysler's Dodge Division:

Households owning more than one car have increased nearly 70 per cent in the last five years.

More than 18 per cent of the car-owning families — 13 1/2 per cent of all American families — now own two or more autos.

The 20-24 age group and over-65 group are growing more rapidly than the rest of the population, both relatively low income groups.

Contrary to a general public impression, that economy — low price — is the overriding consideration of the compact buyers, Mr. Patterson reports 70 per cent of the buyers purchased the deluxe rather than the standard model. More than half of the compacts sold last year had automatic transmissions.

Pirates Beat San Francisco 7th Straight Time, 6 To 1

Giants Are Eliminated From Race

Bucs Set New Home Attendance Record; Haddix Wins 11th

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The pennant-bound Pittsburgh Pirates rampaged for 16 hits Monday night and backed southpaw Harvey Haddix' seven-hitter for a 6-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Haddix picked up his 11th victory and was riding for his first shutout until the ninth inning when Jim Davenport led off with a single and Orlando Cepeda doubled home the only Giant tally.

Giants Eliminated

San Francisco, virtually a unanimous choice in pre-season polls to win the National League flag, was mathematically eliminated from the race when they went down to their 70th defeat.

The Pirates beat the Giants for the seventh straight time to bring their season chart to 14-7 against the Coast team.

A new home attendance record was set at Forbes Field with 21,261 fans bringing the season total to 1,521,251. The previous home record of 1,517,021 was set in 1948.

All the Pirate starters except Bill Mazeroski broke into the hit column with Dick Stuart collecting three—a single, his 20th homer and a triple.

His homer off loser Jack Sanford came in the fourth inning with Roberto Clemente aboard.

Smoky Burgess got three for five and accounted for another tally. Clemente, Don Hoak and Dick Schofield each got two hits.

Sanford Loses 12th

Sanford, the first of four Giant hurlers, was charged with his 12th defeat against a like number of victories and was touched for 11 hits and 5 runs.

Doan Choute gave up four hits and the last Pirate run.

Haddix, going the distance for the fourth time this season, had a five-hitter until the ninth inning and allowed only one walk.

The Pirates suffered their third casualty within 10 days when Bill Virdon aggravated a sore muscle in his right thigh running out a double in the fourth.

He complained the muscle had bothered him before the game. Last Tuesday night shortstop Dick Groat suffered a fractured left wrist and was out for the remainder of the season. Rocky Nelson was the first casualty when he injured a leg muscle 10 days ago.

By the victory Milwaukee now trails the second place Redbirds by one percentage point—566 to 565—in their battle for the runner-up spot behind the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Spahn, who had shutout the Cardinals in two of his last three appearances against them, gave up one run in the first inning, and an unearned marker in the eighth. The Milwaukee lefty ran his personal record over St. Louis to 58-33, and upped his lifetime mark to 236 victories against 181 defeats.

WMI Soccer League Will Open 34th Season October 4

Valley Seeks Title Eighth Year In Row

Mt. Savage First Opponent; Beall Visits Flintstone

The five school Western Maryland Intercollegiate Soccer League will open its thirty-fourth season Tuesday, Oct. 4, it was announced yesterday by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools.

Valley High School's defending champions will play host to Mt. Savage and Beall will oppose Flintstone at the latter place on opening day. Bruce High launches its campaign Friday, Oct. 7 by playing Valley at Westernport.

The Black Knights of Valley have finished in first place every year since they came into the league in 1953 and own a record of 44 wins, two losses and 10 ties. Last season Valley dropped its final game to Beall to end a streak of 52 games in which Valley had gone unbeaten over seven seasons. Beall had lost 13 consecutive games to Valley before upsetting the Knights. Valley wound up with a 5-1-2 record in 1959.

John C. Meyers, Valley coach, has had more championship teams than any mentor in the history of the circuit — a total of nine. John "Chip" Grindle turned out eight winners at Bruce High School.

The coaches in the league are the same as last year, namely, Edward Finzel, Beall; John C. Meyers, Valley; Leonard Ritchie, Bruce; John Thomas, Mt. Savage and Orville Jackson, Flintstone.

The schedule:

Tuesday, Oct. 4 — Mt. Savage at Valley, Beall at Flintstone.

Friday, Oct. 7 — Valley at Bruce, Beall at Flintstone.

Tuesday, Oct. 11 — Mt. Savage at Bruce, Flintstone at Valley.

Tuesday, Oct. 18 — Valley at Beall, Bruce at Flintstone.

Friday, Oct. 21 — Flintstone at Mt. Savage, Beall at Valley.

Tuesday, Oct. 25 — Valley at Bruce, Flintstone at Beall.

Friday, Oct. 28 — Bruce at Valley, Mt. Savage at Beall.

Tuesday, Nov. 1 — Valley at Flintstone, Bruce at Mt. Savage.

Friday, Nov. 4 — Beall at Valley, Flintstone at Bruce.

Tuesday, Nov. 8 — Mt. Savage at Flintstone, Bruce at Beall.

Hurricane Donna threw a knockout punch at most of the Eastern sports schedule Monday, forcing postponement of race track meetings, a baseball game, golf tournament and the national tennis championship.

Lonaconing Council Airs Civic Problems

Garbage Contract Awarded For Year

LONAICONING—Joseph McGregg has been awarded a garbage contract for a one-year period from September 1, 1960 to September 1, 1961, following a successful three-month trial period, the mayor and council have announced.

Council also reported that dredging of Georges Creek has been completed from East Main Street to Central School, and the course of the stream has been changed slightly to carry the sewage in the area.

Guard railing has been requested on Jackson Mountain road by the Schlereth and Dick properties. It will be checked to determine if several guard rails installed would be helpful.

Owners of junked automobiles parked on Lonaconing streets will be notified of the ordinance prohibiting this, and residents' cooperation in removing cars which have no license tags will be sought.

An extra policeman will be serving with the regular police officer on Saturday nights from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. to handle problems which are cropping up, council ordered.

Weeds and stumps along the sidewalks and streets will be removed to improve the conditions. Guard posts are being installed along East High Street by town employees.

The audit prepared by William Torkington is being readied by James Berry, finance commissioner, for presentation to the mayor and council.

J. B. Dowling, Allegany County Health Department, is taking action in the community checking dilapidated and unsanitary properties.

Church Street extended, from the Hadley property to the end of Church Hill, presents a problem for the garbage truck and snow plow to get through. At the next council meeting on Monday, September 19, the problem will be discussed.

A lease from Western Maryland Railway has been executed and filed for the town of Lonaconing to assume control of the depot lot on Union street.

Commissioner Berry reported that the Christmas treat committee has planned to purchase candies and supplies from local businessmen for the community children.

A semi-annual check of all fire hydrants was ordered during September.

A revision and modernizing of the town's ordinances is being completed by the town attorney, James Getty.

Stock Market Continues Decline in Slow Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—Buffeted by an ill-wind from hurricane Donna, stocks resumed their downward course in the slowest trading since August 2.

Putting all the blame on the big winds, however, would be unjust in the extreme. Monday's action held no surprises as the list continued to close in on its 1960 lows.

The recent decline has so far rubbed out about 80 per cent of the market's advance since the start of the government's easy money policy.

With brokers advising a policy of caution, trading Monday dried up to 2,160,000 shares from 2,750,000 last Friday. Declines outnumbered advances 660 to 300 with 223 holding unchanged. New 1960 lows totaled 39, new highs 2.

Plants To Pay Half Of Any Gas Rate Hike

Rest Written Off As Deductible Tax

BALTIMORE (AP) — An attorney for the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. said Monday its industrial customers actually would pay only half of any rate increase granted the firm because of federal tax structures.

The other 50 per cent of additional rates, John W. Avirett II said during the course of a State Public Service Commission hearing, would be written off as a deductible tax expense.

Avirett brought out the taxing situation during cross-examination of Louis F. Cesaletti, a consultant for 11 Western Maryland businesses and industries who intervened in opposition to an $833,000 annual rate increase requested by C&A.

Cesaletti and Melwood W. Van Scoyoc, both of Washington, last month submitted proposals to the PSC which would allow the company about half of the increased rate the utility seeks.

The firm asked last March for the boost, saying increased operating costs required additional revenue from its home and industrial customers.

Cesaletti said his rate recommendation did not take into account the competitive cost of gas and other industrial fuels or the value of service to users.

He said his recommendations were designed to provide rates and produce revenue sufficient to provide an adequate return to the company for each class of service.

However, Avirett argued the rate proposal by the consultant for the industries disregarded competitive costs and would necessarily increase the costs smaller consumers would have to pay to make up the difference in the additional money needed by the company.

Hearings on the company's request for new rates — including increases in the minimum costs for non-heating customers from $2.15 to $2.60 a month and for others from $2.95 to $3.80 monthly — opened last June.

People's Counsel recommended at hearings last month that the increase be held to $419,547 annually, providing the company with a return on its investment of 6.5 per cent.

The gas company ended its testimony after cross-examination of Van Scoyoc and a summation by C. A. Massa, the company's vice president.

The company attempted to get Van Scoyoc to admit that there were several accounting errors in exhibits which he had presented at previous meetings. But Van Scoyoc would back down on only one item.

Van Scoyoc, in the exhibits, said the company had submitted a series of increases in rates because it was buying higher priced gas. The company said it was because of expansion and better service and that it was still buying locally-produced gas. Van Scoyoc admitted that perhaps he was wrong on this item.

Massa pointed out that if the commissioners approved a rate increase lower than the C&A had asked, everyone would get an equal reduction. He said that industry and private property owners would get the same percentage of increase in rates.

The hearings ended this afternoon. But attorneys for some smaller companies, near Cumberland, may enter briefs if they wish.

Public School Enrollment Increases 118

16,118 Attend In First Week

The number of children in Allegheny County public schools this year increased 118 over last year, according to figures tabulated from first enrollment reports received last week from principals by Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel.

This year's first enrollment report indicates that 16,118 pupils reported for classes the first week. Last year an even 16,000 reported for opening sessions.

Mr. Higgins said a second enrollment report is due on Friday this week.

He pointed out there are 52 fewer first graders enrolled at the outset of the school year in comparison to last year and a total of 80 more seniors than last year.

Allegheny High School has 90 more students this year, Fort Hill 50 more and Valley High School 41 more. The other high schools vary less in enrollment figures, he said.

A breakdown of enrollments in grades 1 to 12 this year and last year is as follows:

First grade, 1307-1359; second grade, 1268-1365; third grade, 1308-1363; fourth grade, 1312-1258; fifth grade, 1231-1350; sixth grade, 1310-1427; seventh grade, 1539-1693; eighth grade, 1663-1407; ninth grade, 1452-1229; tenth grade, 1185-1155; eleventh grade, 1042-1222; and twelfth grade, 1117-1037.

There is an increase in the number of pupils in programs for children with special problems. This year's total is 168 in comparison to 135 last year at this time.

Canal Bill Efforts To Be Renewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The effort to get congressional action on legislation to establish a national park along historic Chesapeake and Ohio Canal will be renewed in January.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland announced Monday he would offer the measure, but this time it will be a stripped-down bill.

The new bill, an aide said, would provide that the National Park Service can accept 4,800 acres of Maryland state land, but cannot buy the property. The new bill does not include a 25-mile parkway proposed from Maryland 51 near Paw Paw, W. Va. to near Woodmont, Md.

The proposed park would extend from near Great Falls to Cumberland, a distance of about 165 miles, along the Potomac River.

Boggs is now dean of Longwood College, Farmville, Va., and until he comes here, Dr. E. C. Kennedy will serve as acting dean, University President Elvis J. Stahr said.

Before becoming Longwood College dean in 1955, Boggs was chairman of the graduate committee of the University of Virginia School of Education.

Local Citizens Register To Vote

Some 139 persons last night stood in line at the Second National Bank building on Baltimore Street in order to register for the approaching general election November 8. They were registered by employees of the Allegheny County Board of Election Supervisors. Mrs. Frederick J. Hill Jr. is shown seated in the center being registered by John R. Kelly, right, chief clerk and Democratic registrar of the board.

Seated on the left is Mrs. Ray Phillip, who is next in line to register. Both women are Jaycees. The three men standing, left to right, are John D. May and Frederick J. Hill Jr., co-chairman of the Cumberland Jaycees project to get people to register and James B. Grabenstein, a member of the Jaycee committee.

Parker Heads County Fire Radio Network

Four Companies Voted Into Group

Chief Virgil A. Parker of Cumberland Fire Department last night was elected communications officer for the Allegheny County Fire-Radio Network of Civil Defense at a meeting in LaVale.

Chief Parker will succeed David Kirk, who presided at last night's meeting prior to stepping down as communications officer.

Also elected at last night's annual meeting, which was attended by 14 of the 20 member companies, was Cromwell Zembower of LaVale, who will remain as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Kirk now is coordinator for fire service for the group.

The fire-radio network has received approval from the Federal Communications Commission to take in surrounding communities and add them to the county-wide network. The group then voted to accept any community fire group which desires to come into the organization, adding that fees from out-of-county fire companies will be the same as for the present members.

New Members Considered

The question of new members from outside the county was raised previously by Ridgeley, Keyser, and Piedmont in nearby West Virginia and Grantsville in Garrett County.

The advantages for having the four new companies join the network were discussed. It was pointed out that Piedmont answers calls for Westernport, Keyser covers McCoolle fire alarms and Ridgeley is a standby company for Cumberland. Grantsville wants the service because severe winter conditions in Garrett County sometimes wreck communications and radio service is the only means of communication available.

Kenneth Close, operator of the base station in Frostburg, and Chief Parker, operator of Cumberland's base headquarters, voted in favor of accepting the four companies.

William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for Allegheny County, spoke on the need of new generators before additional radio service can be added to the network. At least four new generators are needed — at Cumberland, Frostburg, and Civil Defense headquarters in Constitution Park here, and at the Wills Mountain relay station.

Generators Available

The generators may be obtained with matching federal funds, Mr. Barger explained, and are required under FCC regulations so power will be available at all times.

Following receipt of information on the generators the network hopes to get additional radios for the county. A number of the member companies have added equipment and have asked for more radios.

New radio sets previously have been obtained from county, state and fire company funds.

The network now has 37 radios in use, including six in Cumberland.

The network also announced last night that no new assessment will be made on the member companies this year due to good financial status of the organization which is now beginning its sixth year of operation. The assessment has been used for FCC checks of equipment which are required twice yearly.

The contract of the Wes-Mar Communications and Electronic Service was renewed for service to the network equipment for another year.

213 Register To Vote In November Election

Extra help had to be called upon last night when 139 persons lined up at the Second National Bank Building on Baltimore Street to register for the general election on November 8.

Last night's registration was set up by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce in cooperation with the Allegheny County Board of Election Supervisors.

Earlier in the day, according to Frederick J. Hill Jr. co-chairman of the Jaycee project, 43 persons signed up when registrars sat at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company and 31 persons registered at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company. Total for the day was 213.

Mr. Hill said there was a continuous line from 7 p.m. until nearly 9:45 p.m. and four persons were kept busy with the registration chores at the bank.

Francis Thompson, Midland, Democratic substitute registrar, and Charles Llewellyn, McCoolle, Republican substitute registrar, started off the evening's registration but when the line became quite long, John R. Kelly, chief clerk and Democratic registrar of the board, was called in. Later Mrs. Ursula Smith, clerk at the board office, began to help register the prospective voters.

Meanwhile the members of the Junior Association of Commerce were outside the bank building "barking up business" and urging the Monday night shoppers to register.

Other Jaycees busy getting persons to vote were John D. May, co-chairman along with Mr. Hill, Richard Sell, W. Bruce Douglas, president of the local chapter, and James B. Grabenstein, member of the committee headed by Mr. Hill and Mr. May. The Jaycees were highly praised for the effort last night.

Bookmobile To Arrive November 15

Allegheny County's new bookmobile will arrive here about November 15, John T. Mason, committee chairman, told the Allegheny County Library Board of Trustees at a meeting in the Court House last night.

The bookmobile has been ordered by the committee as directed by the trustees, he said, and delivery has been promised in 80 days. He explained that each bookmobile is custom built to meet the needs of the area in which it will operate.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, informed the board that she is reviewing applicants for a cataloguer, who must be employed to help process the new books, and to help with the conversion to the county system. She also stated that 4,000 new volumes have been received from the state, as part of the establishment of the county system. An operator for the bookmobile who can qualify is also available, she said.

There was general discussion of budget, needed improvements which must be made to library facilities and buildings, and details of transferring titles and leases.

George Henderson, legal advisor to the board, outlined some of the legal steps in process and others which must be completed to make the change-over from a city and community libraries to the county-wide system.

The next meeting of the board will be held October 10 at the Court House at 7:30 p.m.

Police Seek Four Escapees

State Police and Garrett County authorities spent much of yesterday tracking down reports that three escaped prisoners had been seen in the vicinity of Oakland, but all efforts to track down the youthful trio failed.

Sheriff James Frantz said he believes an automobile reported stolen from Oakland was taken by the three escapees who saved their way through a barred window to freedom from the Garrett County Jail early Sunday morning. The car, owned by Ralph W. Jackson, RD 1, Oakland, is a two-door 1954 blue Pontiac with Maryland tags, GC 48-32.

Police also are checking the possibility the youths may be in the Fairmont, W.Va., area.

Still at large are Walter Lee Davis, 19, of Fairmont, Stanley Tasker, 16, of Kitzmiller, and Julian Ervin Jr., 20, of near Mt. Lake Park.

Meanwhile, West Virginia authorities in Pendleton County, looking for Harper Granville Hedrick, 49, of Harverton, W.Va., who escaped from the county jail in Franklin last week, reported no new leads in their search.
